Although they have not, like the mountains and rivers of other regions, been made the theme of the poet s song, it requires but little aid from imagination to believe them equally entitled to the same honor. But the portion of the town peculiarly adapted to awaken the attention of the traveller, is the village. As he views it in its secluded loveliness, guarded by the barriers of mountain and river, he might pardonably fancy it secure from the vices, which contaminate the world without, and be ready to trace in its beauty, and its seeming peacefulness and innocence, a resemblance to ancient Eden. But let him rest, when imagination shall have carried him thus far, lest, if his investigation proceed he find that there are not impassable barriers against the evils and vices, which are the universal portion of mankind. The village is situate between two meadows called the upper and lower meadow. The former contains about two hundred acres, and the latter (called also the great meadow, ) about five hundred. The soil of these is alluvial and exceedingly fertile in all kinds of produce, necessary to the sustenance of man and beast. There are other meadows of different sizes, which, together with the two already mentioned, contain about twelve hundred acres. The length of the town is about thirteen miles, and its breadth varies from three to four and a half miles. About the Publisher Forgotten...
