Not illustrated. 1872 Excerpt: .Commodore, as if it were a regular naval squadron, set sail for a month s recreation in distant, not foreign waters. The usual summer cruise, in July or August, is through Long Island Sound, touching at New London, Newport, New Bedford, Holmes s Hole, Martha s Vineyard, and, sometimes, points beyond. The Eastern clubs usually meet the New York squadron at Newport, where an annual ball is given, and regattas at various places relieve the little monotony there may be in the splendid sport and healthful recreation. Generally the ladies of the families of the owners accompany them in these cruises, and add to the variety and the delight of the life. THE GRAF Engravings form the literature of the unlettered--a literature almost as old as human society. Memory, becoming wearied by the incessant toil of preserving, for generation after generation, the chronicles of nations and the laws of society in pre historic times, sought aid and relief in pictorial mnemonics, which might reach the understanding through the medium of the eye. Then the solid rocks in the desert became books of record to which a hundred generations or more of various nations have referred. These books of record express facts in a universal language which needs no translation, though sometimes requiring interpretation because of the difference in the condition of different peoples. The savage of the steppes of Tartary equally with the savage of our own vast plains may read intelligently such rude re-1cords of...
