The The Master of the Rolls. It is a fallacy to say, this is not settled. This part of the wife s fortune is as much included in the settlement as the 3000/. actually transferred. Whether he should receive any more was uncertain: if he did, it was to be upon the same terms. I cannot make a new settlement for them. If the time for performing the covenant had arrived, the Court would not let him get hold of the property, leaving his covenant unperformed: but, unfortunately for the wife, she has accepted a covenant; which is not to be performed till after her husband s death, and in the event of her surviving him. His right has become absolute: her s is future and contingent. 1807. Basevi v. Serra. Mr. Heald, for other Defendants, entitled also to a sixth share of the fund, desired a direction, that each share should bear its own costs: long inquiries being necessary for some of the Defendants, entitled to onesixth; with which the other parties had no concern; and said, that course was taken in the case of Mocatta v. Lousada (67). The Master of the Rolls said, that was very reasonable; as it would be...
