S. alliance relationships or security cooperation activities more broadly. On the face of it, the sea-basing concept implies a devaluation of the U. S. land-based overseas presence and raises uncomfortable questions about the extent and character of American alliance commitments and tendencies toward unilateralism in political and military decision making. Recently, the Navy has shown signs of recognizing this problem by popularizing the notion of a Thousand-Ship Navy leveraging allied maritime capabilities to meet the transnational security challenges of the current environment. What this means in practical terms, however, remains quite unclear. More generally,...
